The mission of Saint Lucy Parish is to lead people to a transformative relationship with Jesus Christ and the Catholic Church. We live our faith by welcoming and serving.

La misión de la Parroquia de Santa Lucía es guiar a la comunidad a una relación transformadora con Jesucristo y la Iglesia Católica. Vivimos nuestra fe en el servicio y al dar la bienvenida.

Freedom from Tyranny

It would be difficult to imagine how different our geo-political world would be today if at any time in U.S. history we became a defeated people by peril, war, or exile. Such is the subject of fiction novels and movies. Most anyone will likely agree that freedom is more preferable to tyranny—unless of course the one being asked is a tyrant. We are thankful to live in a country that affords its citizens the rule of law and the freedom that a democratic republic imbues. Even so, a national form of governance that grants individual freedom and rights is a relatively new concept—albeit with a very successful start—that plays itself out with each passing day.

The darker side of the geo-politic remains a force with which to be reckoned in the world. The victors of war have the honor of writing the history of their conquests. From the battles fought in Greece and Rome to the battlefields of the Civil War in the southern U.S., military officers continue to study the ways of military victory and defeat. (Continued on page 5...)

Libertad de la Tiranía

Sería difícil imaginar que diferente sería nuestro mundo geopolítico hoy si en cualquier momento de la historia de los Estados Unidos nos convirtiéramos en un pueblo derrotado por el peligro, la guerra o el exilio. Tal es el tema de las novelas y películas de ficción. La mayoría de las personas probablemente estarán de acuerdo en que la libertad es más preferible a la tiranía, a menos, por supuesto, que a quien se le pregunte sea un tirano. Estamos agradecidos de vivir en un país que brinda a sus ciudadanos el estado de derecho y la libertad que impregna una república democrática. Aun así, una forma nacional de gobierno que otorga libertad y derechos individuales es un concepto relativamente nuevo, aunque con un comienzo muy exitoso, que se desarrolla cada día que pasa.

El lado más oscuro de la geopolítica sigue siendo algo que tenemos que tomar en cuenta en el mundo. Los vencedores de la guerra tienen el honor de escribir la historia de sus conquistas. Desde las batallas libradas en Grecia y Roma hasta los campos de batalla de la Guerra Civil en el sur de los EE. UU., los oficiales militares continúan estudiando las formas de la victoria y la derrota militar. (Continúa en la página 5...)

Similarly, the victors are afforded the responsibility of setting the stage for the next epoch, and, even while victorious in war, the political road and the continued role of a standing army required to preserve the freedoms we enjoy remains central to the heritage we celebrate over this 4th of July Weekend.

Understanding the knowledge that freedom provides is critical to its preservation, and, if we want to avoid tyranny or the prospects of becoming tyrannical ourselves, we will find it necessary to balance the freewill and rights of individuals with shared sense for the common good.

Accordingly, many are inclined to recognize the above concepts as irreconcilably distinct; a pluralistic social milieu does not lend itself as a definitive approach to the common good. At the same time these concepts are not mutually exclusive. Ideally, there is a public dialogue by which all can engage. A dialectic approach in where we consider how both individual freedom and the common good condition each other for the sake of civil pursuits. Anyone living among many may be required from time to time to forgo the insistence of an individual right for the common good as have so many that have made the ultimate sacrifice in the way that they died to sustain freedom.

Central to Christianity is the way that Christ died for our freedom from the fear of sin and death. We conform ourselves to the freedom that Christ wins for us by his resurrection. We may always seek what truth leads us away from tyranny to the freedom that nothing or no one can usurp.

De manera similar, a los vencedores se les otorga la responsabilidad de preparar el escenario para la próxima época y, aun cuando sean victoriosos en la guerra, el camino político y el papel continuo de un ejército permanente es necesario para preservar las libertades que disfrutamos. Esto sigue siendo fundamental para la herencia que celebramos durante este fin de semana del 4 de julio.

Comprender lo que proporciona la libertad es fundamental para su preservación y, si queremos evitar la tiranía o las perspectivas de volvernos tiránicos nosotros mismos, encontraremos que es necesario equilibrar el libre albedrío y los derechos de los individuos con sentido compartido por el bien común.

En consecuencia, muchos se inclinan a reconocer los conceptos anteriores como irreconciliablemente distintos; un medio social pluralista no se presta como una aproximación definitiva al bien común. Al mismo tiempo, estos conceptos no son mutuamente excluyentes. Idealmente, hay un diálogo público en el que todos pueden participar. Un enfoque dialéctico en el que consideramos cómo tanto la libertad individual como el bien común se condicionan mutuamente en aras de fines civiles. A cualquiera que viva entre muchos se le puede exigir de vez en cuando que renuncie a la insistencia de un derecho individual por el bien común, al igual que muchos que han hecho el último sacrificio en la forma en que murieron para mantener la libertad.

Central para el cristianismo es la forma en que Cristo murió por nuestra libertad del temor al pecado y la muerte. Nos conformamos a la libertad que Cristo nos gana con su resurrección. Siempre podemos buscar qué verdad nos aleja de la tiranía hacia la libertad que nada ni nadie puede usurpar.

Bishop Oscar Cantú Statement on U.S. Supreme Court ruling on Dobbs Vs. Jackson.

Laws should reflect the values of society. We recognize that in a pluralistic society, there are several value systems. Yet, the Catholic Church wishes to uphold the protection of the most vulnerable, especially women in vulnerable situations and children, including those in the womb, as a fundamental human right for all. Therefore, the Church advocates for just laws that defend the vulnerable and for a culture that respects human life, from conception to natural death. See www.dsj.org for full statement.
