The mission of Saint Lucy Parish is to lead people to a transformative relationship with Jesus Christ and the Catholic Church.

We live our faith by welcoming and serving.

La misión de la Parroquia de Santa Lucía es guiar a la comunidad a una relación transformadora con Jesucristo y la Iglesia Católica. Vivimos nuestra fe en el servicio y al dar la bienvenida.

Global Stewardship

Many years ago, I was employed as a gas station attendant. In those days, self-serve was a relatively new and less expensive alternative to full-service. A gallon of regular was 60 cents at self-serve! Still, many customers were better acquainted with full-serve and were willing to spend extra for a washed window, a check under the hood, and air to the tires, all as a part of the full-service experience.

Due to the Arab oil embargo in 1973, the US experienced a gas shortage. To balance between customer demand, gasoline quantities with fewer deliveries, we were forced to establish even and odd days. This system regulated gasoline purchases. Depending on the last number on the license plate, a customer was allowed to purchase gas so long as it was the correct day.

Needless to say, this created a good deal of turmoil. People waited in line to fill their tanks. Our job required us to turn away anyone whose plate number did not correspond to the correct day. Many became angry, others tried to beg permission, while still others gamed the system by changing their plates to suit the given day. It was a nightmare. (Continued on page 4...)

Administración Global

Hace muchos años trabajé como encargado de una gasolinera. En aquellos días, el autoservicio era una alternativa relativamente nueva y menos costosa. ¡Un galón de regular costaba 60 centavos en autoservicio! Aún así, muchos clientes estaban mejor familiarizados con el servicio completo y estaban dispuestos a gastar más para que le laven la ventana, le revisen el motor y pongan aire a las llantas, todo como parte de la experiencia de servicio completo.

Debido al embargo petrolero de 1973, Estados Unidos experimentó una escasez de gas. Para equilibrar la demanda nos vimos obligados a establecer días pares e impares. Este sistema regulaba las compras de gasolina. Dependiendo del último número de su matrícula, un cliente podía comprar gasolina siempre que fuera el día correcto.

No hace falta decir que esto creó agitación. La gente hacían fila para llenar sus tanques. Nuestro trabajo requería que rechazáramos a cualquier persona cuyo número de placa no correspondiera al día correcto. Muchos se enfadaron, otros intentaron pedir permiso y otros jugaron con el sistema cambiando sus matrículas para adaptarlas al día en cuestión. Fue una pesadilla. (Continúa en la página 4...)

There were many solutions proposed that are becoming a reality today such as more fuel-efficient cars, electric cars, greater capacity for public transportation. As innovative as we have proven ourselves as a nation, so little is changed. Albeit there are now more viable alternatives to the internal combustion engine, though it's a wonder if we will ever find a less polluting energy to fuel our mobility.

Everywhere we travel it is the same. The world depends on oil for transport. Current predictions suggest that we will soon deplete oil reserves though no one can say exactly when this will occur. Perhaps what is more difficult to address are predictions of climate change and whether human activity is contributing to it. There is no dispute however that human activities have diminished the natural balances of nature having deleterious effects on keeping our environment healthy for us all.

Often, any discussion regarding our responsibility to keep our environment safe for future generations gets framed as a political issue. Even so, our tradition tells us that God appointed us stewards of creation, and we have still much to learn if we are to honor that title of distinction. Over the next generations of Catholics born to our home planet, we do well to consider how we will make good on the best use of the resources left to us and our progeny by our keen awareness of the natural world. May we learn to cherish the goodness God bestows on us and use wisely what remains.

Hubieron muchas propuestas que hoy se están haciendo realidad, como automóviles más eficientes, eléctricos y mayor capacidad de transporte público. Por más innovadores que hayamos demostrado ser como nación, muy poco ha cambiado. Aunque ahora existen alternativas más viables al motor de combustión, es sorprendente que algún día encontremos una energía menos contaminante para alimentar nuestra movilidad.

A todos los lugares a los que viajamos ocurre lo mismo. El mundo depende del petróleo para el transporte. Las predicciones actuales sugieren que pronto agotaremos las reservas de petróleo, aunque nadie puede decir exactamente cuándo ocurrirá. Quizás lo que sea más difícil de abordar sean las predicciones del cambio climático y si la actividad humana contribuye a él. Sin embargo, no hay duda de que las actividades humanas han disminuido los equilibrios naturales de la naturaleza y han tenido efectos negativos para mantener nuestro medio ambiente saludable para todos nosotros.

A menudo, cualquier discusión sobre nuestra responsabilidad de mantener nuestro medio ambiente seguro para las generaciones futuras se enmarca como una cuestión política. Aun así, nuestra tradición nos dice que Dios nos nombró administradores de la creación, y todavía tenemos mucho que aprender si queremos honrar ese título. Durante las próximas generaciones de católicos nacidos en nuestro planeta natal, haremos bien en considerar cómo aprovecharemos al máximo los recursos que nuestra aguda conciencia del mundo natural nos deja a nosotros y a nuestra progenie. Que aprendamos a apreciar la bondad que Dios nos otorga y a usar sabiamente lo que queda.
