Freedom from Tyranny

It's difficult to imagine how different our geopolitical world would be if, at any point in U.S. history, we had become a defeated people by an authoritarian regime—through peril, war, or exile. While such scenarios are the stuff of novels and films, the underlying reality is clear: most would agree that freedom is preferable to tyranny—unless, of course, one happens to be a tyrant.

We are grateful to live in a country that upholds the rule of law and grants its citizens the freedoms inherent in a democratic republic. Yet, it's worth remembering that this form of governance—one that values individual rights and liberty—is relatively new in the broader arc of human history. Though still evolving, it has had a remarkably strong beginning and continues to be tested and shaped each day.

Libertad Frente a la Tiranía

Es difícil imaginar cuán diferente sería nuestro mundo geopolítico si, en cualquier momento de la historia de Estados Unidos, nos hubiéramos convertido en un pueblo derrotado por un régimen autoritario, ya sea por peligro, guerra o exilio. Si bien estos escenarios son materia de novelas y películas, la realidad subyacente es clara: la mayoría coincidiría en que la libertad es preferible a la tiranía, a menos, claro está, que uno sea un tirano.

Agradecemos vivir en un país que defiende el Estado de derecho y otorga a sus ciudadanos las libertades inherentes a una república democrática. Sin embargo, vale la pena recordar que esta forma de gobierno —que valora los derechos individuales y la libertad— es relativamente nueva en el amplio arco de la historia de la humanidad. Aunque aún está en evolución, ha tenido un comienzo notablemente sólido y continúa poniéndose a prueba y moldeándose cada día. (Continúa leyendo en la página 4...)

Even so, the darker side of geopolitical realities remain ever present. History is likely written by the victors—those who prevail on the battlefield or through political struggle. From the military strategies of ancient Greece and Rome to the lessons drawn from the U.S. Civil War, the study of conflict has long been central to understanding both the fragility and endurance of freedom. Victors not only win wars; they shape the narratives and the future structures of power. And yet, victory also demands responsibility: to uphold the ideals fought for and to preserve the freedoms won.

If freedom is to be preserved, we must understand what it offers. To avoid falling into tyranny—or becoming tyrannical ourselves—we must find a way to balance individual rights with a shared commitment to the common good. This is not always an easy task.

Many see individual liberty and the common good as opposing forces. A pluralistic society doesn't always offer a clear path to unity or peace. But these principles need not be mutually exclusive. Ideally, public discourse allows for thoughtful engagement, where both the freedom of the individual and the needs of the collective are held in tension for the sake of civic harmony. At times, citizens may be asked to set aside personal interests for the greater good, just as many have made the ultimate sacrifice in defense of freedom.

At the heart of Christianity is the belief that Christ died to free us—not just from political oppression but from the fear of sin and death. Through his resurrection, he offers a deeper freedom. Our call is to conform ourselves to this truth, and to follow where it leads: away from tyranny and toward the freedom that no earthly power can take away.

Aun así, el lado oscuro de las realidades geopolíticas permanece siempre presente. Es probable que la historia la escriban los vencedores: aquellos que prevalecen en el campo de batalla o mediante la lucha política. Desde las estrategias militares de la antigua Grecia y Roma hasta las lecciones extraídas de la Guerra de Secesión estadounidense, el estudio del conflicto ha sido fundamental durante mucho tiempo para comprender tanto la fragilidad como la resistencia de la libertad. Los vencedores no solo ganan guerras, sino que moldean las narrativas y las futuras estructuras de poder. Sin embargo, la victoria también exige responsabilidad: defender los ideales por los que se luchó y preservar las libertades conquistadas.

Para preservar la libertad, debemos comprender lo que ofrece. Para evitar caer en la tiranía —o convertirnos en tiránicos nosotros mismos— debemos encontrar la manera de equilibrar los derechos individuales con un compromiso compartido con el bien común. Esto no siempre es tarea fácil.

Muchos ven la libertad individual y el bien común como fuerzas opuestas. Una sociedad pluralista no siempre ofrece un camino claro hacia la unidad o la paz. Pero estos principios no tienen por qué ser mutuamente excluyentes. Idealmente, el discurso público permite una interacción reflexiva, donde tanto la libertad individual como las necesidades colectivas se mantienen en tensión en aras de la armonía cívica. A veces, se les puede pedir a los ciudadanos que dejen de lado sus intereses personales por el bien común, al igual que muchos han hecho el sacrificio máximo en defensa de la libertad.

En la esencia del cristianismo reside la creencia de que Cristo murió para liberarnos, no solo de la opresión política, sino también del miedo al pecado y a la muerte. A través de su resurrección, nos ofrece una libertad más profunda. Nuestro llamado es conformarnos a esta verdad y seguirla adonde nos lleve: lejos de la tiranía y hacia la libertad que ningún poder terrenal puede arrebatarnos.

Donating your vehicle to St. Vincent de Paul of Santa Clara County is an easy process. Cars, trucks, motorcycles, RV's and even boats are accepted. Your unwanted vehicle will be sold and the proceeds will be used to support their programs which include services provided to those struggling families living on the margins in Santa Clara County. Your generosity of a donated vehicle qualifies for a tax deduction, free towing, and the IRS/DMV paperwork is taken care of for you. Call today at 1-800-322-8284, to get your donation started. Remember to mention St. Lucy Parish, SVdP so that a portion of the money goes to our Conference.

Online Donations can be made at <https://paybee.io/@stlucy@48>.

The Society of St. Vincent de Paul, St. Lucy Conference is looking for new members. If you have two consecutive hours per week that you can dedicate to serving those in need, consider our ministry.
